Woulda, Shoulda, Coulda

All of us have those days when playing shuffleboard. It would have been better if I'd stuck that weight, I should of gone around that puck, I could of won the game if...

No one knows that better than the singles players here in Reno. Well, maybe except for the winners <G>. The rest of us here all have had a moment in the singles where things "went south" so to speak.

I never saw anyone give up though. Travis Taylor from Michigan was behind 13-2 in a second game of a match after losing the first game. He never gave up and came back to win the match and place second in the Division III Singles in his first trip to Reno.

Kudos to Travis and all the other players that played their hearts out in this great tournament!
